LAW ABOUT SPOOKS.
Legal to Shoot Them in England—
Other Court Rulings.

Lawsuits about alleged ghosts, of a
nature similar to the one which was thruisted out the other day before Mr. Justice Grantham, are far from uncommon.

Indeed, there is quite a little library
of books relating to the subject, all of
them full of misty, rusty precedents,
and each and every one of them bound
in that peculiar, undecorated, plebeian
colored material known to booksellers
as law calf.

From these books one may learn
many things about ghosts, and the proper way to treat them.

It is, for instance, illegal to belabor
a "ghost" after it has cried out that it is not a ghost; while a man who goes
gun-hunting after an alleged ghost,
and shoots and kills a human being
who is masquerading in spook attire,
is guilty of murder.

You may not summarily give up
possession of a house of which you are tenant, simply because you believe it to be haunted, nor yet even if it be currently alleged and reputed to be haunted.

But, on the other hand, damages
have been recovered against a landlord who let a notoriously spook-infested dwelling to a tenant without
first informing him of its evil reputation.

A father has, too, obtained a verdict
against a schoolmaster whose school
was haunted by a ghost which frightened his boy into fits, and it has been held to be illegal to shut up a prisoner
in a reputedly haunted jail.

Once a woman sought a judicial separation from her spouse on the ground
that he was in league with a familiar spirit, which haunted his bedroom by night and his study by day.

But her petition was refused, the judge remarking that she had taken
her husband for worse as well as for better, and that she might as well ask
to be relieved of him because he had developed a wart on his nose as a
sprite at his elbow. — Pearson's

WITH JUDGE BEN
LINDSEY'S BOYS

MOST NOTED OF JUVENILE MAG-ISTRATES TALKED HERE.

HEART NEEDS DEVELOPMENT

His Kind of Court Protects Boys from Environment and Not Public
from Boys.

Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver, Colo., who has become famous the
country over for his wonderful success as magistrate of a juvenile court,
revealed to an immense audience in the Carroll M. E. church last evening
the methods by which hundreds of boys had been saved from careers of crime and made into valuable citizens
and introduced a number of his proteges. His address was delivered
under the auspices of the International Sunday School Association, which is conducting a state Sunday School convention in this city. The delegates to this meeting were scarcely noticeable last evening, the attendance of local people being so large. The crowd entirely filled the main auditorium and Sunday school
room and spread into the remotest recesses of the balcony. It is safe to

JUDGE BEN B. LINDSEY

say that the great majority of those who came with a belief that evil was
inborn in many boys left upholding
the theory that the lack of training
was mostly responsible for childhood
crime.

The Lopsided Boy
In opening Judge Lindsey said we are compelled to have juvenile courts
because the hearts of some boys have
not been educated either in the home,
the church or the school. The most dangerous boy criminal I ever knew,
he continued, was the brightest. He was a frenzied financier at the age of 22 and the smoothest of forgers. His mind had been developed but his heart had been neglected. He was a lopsided boy—one possessed of much intellectual strength, but entirely lacking in moral strength. The boy can be handled only by one who understands him, one who comes in contact with his heart, using love, patience and kindness. By such a method children almost without exception,
especially bad children, can be controlled for good.

State as Protector
Up till the time juvenile courts were established the state neglected a child
until he had committed crime. Then it threw the boy into prison, hardening him against the world. The juvenile court values the boy above money, he
steals or the injury he does society
and endeavors to correct, not by avenging but by protecting. Environment, opportunity and example make human character and where these are bad the character is bad. It is against environment, opportunity and example that the court shields the boy. It is the drunken father and the neg-lectful mother that now suffer for the child's sin. The boys are charged with the need of help, aid and a guardian and the parents are ordered by the court to care for their boys and girls. They are held responsible for the girl being in a cheap theatre, on the streets without chaperonage, or in a dance hall. Now the guardians suffer for failure to perform their duty.

Knowledge of Boys
What I have learned of boys and girls is from the experience of being
a boy and from experience with boys and girls. From books I have learned nothing except that which I have had to unlearn. The best teacher is the boy or girl whom you understand and who understands you. Loyalty is a prime factor in winning boys. Be loyal to them and they will be loyal to you. Trust them and they will trust you. Put your heart in contact with their heart, your soul with their
soul and do not match your intellect
against theirs. Firmness, however, compels respect while leniency mistaken
for weakness inspires hate. Between firmness and weakness is efficiency.
It is the father's duty to be efficient
and the most contemptible of all contemptible creatures is the father who deserts the boy. The boy needs the father, for a mother loses her control

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney Nerves. The Kidneys, like the heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ
itself, but in the nerves that control and conduct strength to them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the kidneys alone is futile. It is a waste of time and of money to do so. Your back aches or is weak, if the urine
scalds, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms
of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—Tastes or light and so what is gained and will do for you. Druggists recommend and sell

Dr. Shoop's

when the boy reaches the age of twelve.

Success of Love
Our method of dealing with child
criminals does not always succeed.
Ninety-five per cent of those children we take in hand become good citizens while seventy-five per cent of the criminals the jails deal with return to the jails later in life. So we claim friendship and love are the best
methods of handling child criminals.
Jails inspire fear and fear inspires lying. Divine sympathy wisely bestowed never lets a child get away
with a lie. Friendship interest in the child's welfare, has made many a self-
supporting, self-respecting citizen.
Children should be taught to love
each other and above all they should be trusted for lack of trust teaches children to be weaklings and crime is only a weakness, an inability to withstand temptation.

DEMONSTRATED HOW TO TEACH INDIANS

Former Janesville Girl Appeared Before Educators in Convention
at Los Angeles.

In Los Angeles, Cal., last week was held a convention of educators in the so-called Indian Service. Methods of teaching the American aborigine were discussed fully and one of the most interesting portions of the program
was furnished by a former Janesville
girl, Miss Bertha Proctor, who graduated from the local high school a few years ago. She is a daughter of Joel Proctor, who resided just south of this city and her present home is in Long Beach, Cal. As a representative of the Sherman Institute faculty, Miss Proctor
conducted a demonstration lesson
with Indian children, taking "alfalfa"
as a subject. The method she exploited is an innovation, which prominent
educators present expressed themselves as believing should be introduced in all reservation advanced
schools without delay. Myrtor Allott,
writing in a Los Angeles paper, says:

"Miss Bertha Proctor showed her enthusiasm for object education by going out at dawn to secure a huge
plant of alfalfa needed for the demonstration. Three Indian children had been selected for the demonstration. She-she, a young Sioux, Antonio, a Crow, and Agnes, a Mission Indian.
The plan in these classes is to take whatever farm product it is desired to acquaint the Indian child with, according to the location from which he comes, and teach him writing, reading and figuring with that plant as the subject. It is something in the nature of advanced kindergarten work,
eminently suited to the child's understanding. He is taught to know the seed, how many seeds are needed to plant an acre, figure how much water
it will take to irrigate a field, how
much hay he can expect to harvest,
how much money he will obtain for so
many bales of hay at current prices.
This training is practical farming and elemental school work combined. It is what the Indian needs, and the children evidently enjoy it. This is true
Indian education, rational and useful,
worthy of the highest commendation.
But from the hidden smiles and fa-
cious remarks I caught in the camping of the conservatives, the demonstration did not seem to recommend itself
to them. Of course not—it means a little personal effort and trouble,
when the printed manual is 'so handy.' I hope to learn, however, that this, the best innovation in many years, has been pushed through, and has become a universal feature. It would help to atone for many errors
of the past."

Thomas Fortune Ryan, the eminent
financier, was born in Nelson county, Va., on October 17, 1851. He married
on November 25, 1873, in Baltimore, Miss Ida M. Barry. Mr. Ryan first
started in business with a dry-goods
house in Baltimore, where he went to work in 1868. He quit mercantile pursuits and started in on Wall street
to study finance in 1870, and in four years had gained a place on the New York Exchange, and was counted a wealthy and rising financier. He is supposed to control the voting stock
in the great Equitable Life Insurance company, and is heavily interested in many valuable corporations. He has a home in New York city and a noted
country place in Virginia.

NEW IMPROVEMENTS
ON THE HAY CARRIER

Janesville Man Again Improves an Invention of His Own, Enabling
More Hay to Be Put in Mow.

F. B. Strickler, of the Strickler Hay
Tool company, of this city, has made
another improvement on his reversible and swivel steel track carrier that will enable farmers to put more hay
in their hay sheds and mows. The improvement made is an enlargement
in the mouth of the carrier thus raising the base of the carrier at least six inches above its former base and
giving a clearance of the same distance to the hay fork as it passes
over the hay mow with a load. In enlarging the mouth of the carrier
the lowest pulley is brought six inches closer to the track on which
the carrier runs so when the mow becomes filled up the fork can be worked to better advantage and more
hay can be placed in the mow. Mr.
Strickler has been working some time
on this improvement to his carrier
which he has been improving since the year 1882 when he invented it. His last improvement to the carrier was three years ago. The latest improvement will be found in all the carriers
that will be sent out of the factory
from now on and it is hoped that the farmers will find the new improvement an advantage in filling a hay
mow or shed from wagons.

SCHOOL BUILDING, JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Education of the city of Janesville, Wis., until 8 p. m. Monday,
July 22nd, 1907, for the remodeling
and adding to the Jefferson School
building according to plans and specifications, which may be seen at the city clerk's office, Janesville, Wis., or plans
may be procured from Chandler & Park Architects, of Racine, Wis.

Separate bids will be received at the same time for plumbing and heating, which will be of the Fan System.

Contractors will be requested to give a surety bond, subject to the approval of the Board of Education for 50 per cent of the contract price, issued by a responsible surety company
and drawn to protect both the Board
of Education, sub-contractors and material men upon the awarding of the contract. Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check for two
per cent of the bid, made payable to
S. C. Burnham, Clerk, to be forfeited
in case the bidder receiving the award
shall fail to execute the contract, and
furnish the bond above specified with-
in ten days after notification of acceptance of his bid.

The right is reserved to reject any
and all bids, and to waive any defects
or informalities in any bid, if it is deemed to be in the interest of the Board of Education to do so.

All bids to be addressed to S. C.
Burnham, Clerk of the Board of Education, Janesville, Wis., and marked
bids for "The Remodeling and Adding to the Jefferson School Building."
By order of the Board of Education.
Dated this 5th day of July, A. D., 1907.

Signed,
S. C. BURNHAM,
Clerk.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Gazette, Wednesday, July 10, 1867.—The Weather—90 in the shade.

Bitten By A Dog.—A little boy some
seven years of age was severely bitten in both hands this forenoon in McKee's store by a savage dog.

A Handsome Fleece of Wool.—A Spanish Merino buck two years old,
the 20th of April, and weighing 105
pounds, owned by J. Grundy of Harmony, sheared this spring 21 pounds.
Last year the same buck sheared 18½ pounds.

A Joint Fair.—We understand that arrangements have been entered into
between the Driving Park association
and the Rock County Agricultural society for a joint fair and horse show,
to be held on the grounds of the former on the 10, 11, 12, and 13th of September.

Wants To Know You Know.—An
occasional correspondent wants to know why, if there is a city ordinance
against horses running at large, the proper officers do not see to the enforcement of the same and inquires
whether this is not one of the duties
of the city marshal. Unless we mis-
apprehend the scope of his powers
this is a legitimate subject for his attention. The question now before the community is, shall the ordinance be enforced?

A General Thing.—The picnic tomorrow is by no means confined to the Sabbath Schools of the Presbyterian and Congregational churches but
is designed for the entire congregation. The Prairie Bird and Minnehaha have been fitted up in good style,
and those who go may be sure there
will be no danger of the boats exploding their boilers. Should a storm interfere with the present arrangements we understand Mr. Barnes will speak in the Congregational church
tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The Races Yesterday.—The July
races closed Tuesday by a splendid trot between Angeline Hoosier Boy and Lady Bella. The track had been dragged and rolled so that it was in splendid condition notwithstanding
the heavy rain on the day before.

Vinol is as delicious as a fresh
orange, and as soothing as can be to the weak, irritable stomach. It coaxes back lost appetite, improves
digestion and creates strength
throughout the whole system. We strongly recommend Vinol to all who are weak and run-down from
any cause,—particularly to delicate
women and children, old people
and for those who have pulmonary troubles. Money back if you try Vinol and are not satisfied.

SUMMER WEATHER
THROUGHOUT STATE

Many Severe Storms During Past
Week—Rainfall Very Unevenly Distributed.

Following is the Wisconsin Weather
Bulletin, issued by the Department of Agriculture, for the week ending Monday, July 8:

The weather during the week, ending July 7, 1907, was typical summer
weather in most respects. There were unusually severe storms throughout the central portion of the state
on the afternoons and evenings of the 2d and 4th. These storms were especially severe in the region from Lake Winnebago westward as far as the counties of Clark, Jackson and Monroe. It appears from reports received thus far that a fairly well defined tornado occurred in the northeast quarter of Monroe county about 6 p. m. on July 3d. There were very severe electrical and hail storms the same afternoon in the southern portion of Clark county and in eastern Waushara, southwestern Winnebago
and eastern Green Lake counties. According to the press dispatches at least sixteen people were killed and a large amount of property destroyed
in the districts mentioned. The mean temperature for the week was slightly
below the seasonal average, but
while the temperature was not unusually high at any time and did not
average above the normal, there was considerable warm and sultry weather.
On the morning of July 2d the temperature fell to 33 degrees at Vey-
erhauser, Rusk county, but no frost
was observed. The rainfall was very unevenly distributed over the state.
The total for the week varied from 0.2 of an inch on the Lake Superior
shore and along the Mississippi river
from Lake Pepin to La Crosse, to over 5.00 inches in the central part of the state. During the night of the 4th-5th the fall at Meadow Valley,
Jensen county, amounted to .433
inches.

THE BUSY MAN'S CORNER.

Four children of Mr. and Mrs.
Jason Field of Rogersville, Wis., were burned to death.

King Edward has bought two of Alfred G. Vanderbilt's prize-winning state coach horses.

The wife of the earl of Rosslyn,
formerly Anna Robinson of Minneapolis, has sued him for divorce.

Dr. William LeGrange Ralph, curator of the section of birds' eggs in the national museum, died at the George Washington university hospital.

Vice President Fairbanks, while at Yellowstone lake, Yellowstone park,
risked his own life to save that of a
waitress who was in danger of drowning.

Prof. James McGranahan, the well-known hymn writer, formerly connected with Moody and Sankey, the evangelists, died at his home in Kinsman, O.

Marion R. Biggs, convicted of conspiracy in the famous Blue Mountain
land fraud case in Oregon, was sentenced to ten months in the Multnomah county jail. He will also pay a fine of $500.

Rudolph Johnson, Frederickson von Borsch and Herman von Borsen,
members of the crew of Henry Clay
Pierce's yacht Yacona, drowned in Hudson river because one of them
reeked a yawl in which they were sailing.

A monument erected by the state of New Jersey to commemorate the services of the Fourteenth volunteer infantry of that state at the battle of the Monocacy was unveiled on the battlefield, near Frederick, N. Y., by Miss Alice Patterson, daughter of
Maj. John C. Patterson of Freehold,
N. J.

H. J. Wilson, the messenger of the First National bank of New York, who disappeared a week ago after collecting $35,700 in checks and cash, has reported to the bank officials that the money was stolen by a pickpocket and he fled, fearing arrest. He will not be arrested unless his story
proves false.

DR. W. S. CHAPLIN RESIGNS.
Chancellor of Washington University
Will Take Long Rest.

St. Louis, July 10.—Announcement was made Tuesday that Dr. Winfield
S. Chaplin, chancellor of Washington university, has tendered his resignation to the board of trustees to take effect October 1. The resignation has been accepted.

Dr. Chaplin, who will be 60 years of age in August, has been at the head of the university for the past 16
years. His action was taken voluntarily to give him opportunity for a long rest. Professor Marshall S.
Snow, who has been dean of the institution since 1877, will be his successor temporarily.

Fatal Collision of Freights.
Valdosta, Ga., July 10.—Two extra
freights on the Atlantic Coast line collided near Blue Springs late Monday night. Flagman Jones and a negro named George Everett were killed
and three trainmen seriously injured.
Twenty cars of watermelons were wrecked.

Kentucky Mansion Is Burned.
Paducah, Ky., July 10.—Ellesley, the country home of George C. Wallace, a capitalist at Arcadia, near Paducah,
burned Tuesday. The place was said
to be the handsomest in the Purchase.
Loss $50,000, partially insured.

Large Crop from Acre.
An acre of rich land in the parts of Central America suitable for raising
that fruit will yield about 25,000
bananas in a year.

WAR WITH JAPAN

The Jingo are now talking war. This time they have picked out Japan as Uncle Sam's antagonist. At first they state that Japan can whip Uncle Sam off the map; that the Philippines, the Hawaiian Islands and the entire Pacific coast of the United States could be captured with ease by the "Yellow Hordes" of the East. They and great facts in the transfer of vessels from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast—interview the leading soldiers and sailors of past decades and make capital out of what they say. America is reaching a crisis, says the European Journals of the same stripe. Japan playing clever politics, is another way in which it is kindly put; yellow of the yellowist type; anything for sensation. Meanwhile Uncle Sam is going on minding his business—entertaining Japanese visitors, Americans visiting Japan, both nations treating the other with respect due. War is as far from the thoughts of the statesmen of the two nations as could possibly be. But the Jingo continue to talk.

LEGISLATIVE WORK

The Life Insurance Companies had their innings yesterday at Madison and the senate put a quietus to their hopes of favorable legislation by the bill which increases their taxes and makes stricter regulations. It has been a bitter fight and the radical element have been successful in forcing the issue. The session drags out and the members do not take the interest they did at the start. Their business interests in many instances have suffered from the protracted session. They are not all rich men who can afford to lose money while serving their state and the result will be seen in the radical legislation that will become laws before the session ends.

They will have to shave Mayor Schmitz when he gets to the state prison he is consigned to and his beautiful whiskers will disappear perhaps to assemble again on the head of some child's doll.

The job of honorary president of the Standard Oil Trust must be a daisy job. Too bad they did not choose him by popular elections every year and give every consumer one vote per gallon used.

The Haywood trial continues to drag along with the defense refuting all of Orchard's confession piece by piece. Either Orchard is a monumental liar or he is just as big a villain as he painted himself.

Even the enemies of the Panama canal will admit now that the canal if completed would be a very handy means for turning the Atlantic fleet into a Pacific one.

From the depths of the prison and with five years to serve, Mayor Schmitz announces he is a candidate for re-election as Mayor of San Francisco.

Pittsburg has been quiet for some time and but few new scandals have come from the city of smoke and millonaires.

Vice President Fairbanks rescued a poor girl from drowning. Good for Fairbanks. Heretofore he has been known as the human iceberg.

On the eve of his visit to Ireland.

King Edward released Major Lynch, the Irish Patriot, who fought against the English flag in South Africa.

Jesse Grant would like to be the democratic nominee for President. Good for Jesse. He seeks to be a big man like his father.

King Edward and his wife are visiting Ireland. The Irish people will show their loyalty by shouting, "Long live the King."

Shackleton's dash for the south pole does not seem half as absurd as it did last spring. Things be het up some now.

Japan, by going into the oil business itself, has frozen out the Standard Oil trust. Is not this a casus belli?

The "City of Travers" has been given a death-dealing blow when its passenger franchise was taken away.

Good walks of a uniform grade, not the hump kind now in use, would be a good campaign slogan.

It is still safe to wear lights in Wisconsin. The anti-tights bill failed to pass.

Past Thinking Time.

"Well," remarked Mr. Staylate at last, "I must be thinking of going. What time is it?"
"Oh," replied Miss Patience Gonne, "it's long past that time!"

SWIMMING HINTS.

Miss Kollerman, Woman Champion, Gives Valuable Advice to Novices.
By ANNETTE KELLERMAN.

[Annette Kellerman, the world's most famous woman swimmer and diver, has come to this country from Australia, after a lengthy stay in England, to teach American women the beautiful and pleasurable art of which she is so notable an exponent. She believes American women to be the type who would naturally be expected to be good swimmers, and she predicts that America will eventually become a nation of swimmers.]

Any woman who can walk can learn to swim.

She may never become a great swimmer and probably will not if she is out of her twenties, but she can learn to swim sufficiently well to share in the mental and physical delights of the pastime, to say nothing of the healthful features of it. We might say that the three cardinal necessities are competence, courage and perseverance, and the greater the degree of each the greater the degree of attainment.

Naturally the matter of a costume arises first in the mind of a woman. The best costume is the cheap, ordinary stockinet suit, which clings close to the figure, and the closer the better. It should be sleeveless, and there should be no skirts. Skirts carry water and retard the swimmer. They are very pretty and appropriate for the seaside, but not for the swimming pool.

Stockings may be worn if they fit tightly, but under no circumstances should shoes be used.

Confidence in the water is the first requisite, but there should be no fooling about not losing sight of the fact that the pupil is there to learn to swim. There should be no ducking of the beginner by more confident friends and no splashing of the water more than is necessary in the learning of the strokes. Fresh water is the best to start in, because if one learns to swim in this the hard part of the battle is over. Salt water, being more buoyant, is far and away easier to swim in, but the fresh water, when mastered, gives one a confidence that comes handy when surf bathing and rough water swimming is encountered.

To go back a step, it is entirely possible to gain an idea of the "breast stroke," the first and basic stroke of swimming, without going near the water. The old ditty about "Mother, may I go out to swim?" and mother's answer, advising against any nearness to the water, is after all not so foolish as it sounds. In one's own boudoir it is possible to perfect the rudiments of the essential stroke.

A broad chair placed in the center of the room, with the body resting on it so that the legs and arms are free, offers this opportunity. One may throw one's self first across the bed, so that the arms will extend over the side and, outstretching them, try the arm strokes. The chair is best, however, because both arm and leg strokes are possible.

First of all, when the recumbent position is taken, stretch the arms and legs out straight, thumbs touching, palms down, knees, heels and toes together. Then in order to better all the stroke begin by slowly counting.

At the count of "one," sweep the arms back until at right angles with the body, at the same time drawing up the knees, but keeping the heels together. At the count of "two," the heels being drawn up as far as possible toward the body, part them and kick them backward, being careful to keep them in as near a horizontal position as possible, the back kick being made at the count "two." Simultaneously with this the arms should be brought near the body ready for the plunge forward again.

This is repeated, say, ten times at the first trial, or less if this is found to be too exhausting. Always remember to avoid overexertion and fatigue. These movements are but the rudimentary and first and do not of course compare with the completed or rounded stroke, which will come later and naturally when the pupil gains a greater degree of efficiency.

To come back to the swimming pool, we may digress for a moment to say that the earlier swimming is attempted the better. Patience on the part of the instructor and the instructed is essential. By catching hold of the steps, a rope or a post the pupil may learn without assistance the leg strokes, and it is not a bad idea to do this before the arm stroke is attempted.

One should never expect to become a swimmer in a couple of days, and in this connection it is necessary to again caution the pupil against overdoing her strength.

There's a Difference.

Patch by patch is good housewifery, but patch upon patch is plain beggary.

HAPPENED IN "MINNEAPOLIS.

Henry Got Rid of the Dogs in Short Order.

Mr. Nelson, who was much annoyed by stray dogs barking bones in his garden at Linden Hills, secured a lion while he was in Europe, paying $287.50 for a rather weather-beaten king of beasts, but one that was guaranteed in every respect. The lion became a great pet on the way over and came to know his master's voice and obey it. Its name was Henry.

Arrived at Linden Hills, Mr. Nelson let Henry out into the back yard and simply waited.

At 7:30 on the first morning a Newfoundland dog as large as a small garage, walked into the yard to step on the flower beds as usual and to tip over the garbage can. The lion saw the dog enter the yard and the dog just barely saw the lion.

"Crunch!" That was all. It was the sound made by Henry eating the dog. At 8:10 a monster bulldog, smelled his way into the garden to rip up a yard of soil among the petunias.

"Kl-yi!"

"Crunch!"

The bulldog had gone hence. By 11:30 Henry's score stood:

One Newfoundland, one bulldog, four fox terriers, an Irish setter and two plain dogs. Everything that came into the yard collided with the lion, and lo, it was not.

Mr. Nelson was so joyous over the experiment that he could not go to work that day, but just sat around and felt good. In six weeks the dogs were either all in or were avoiding the place by going two blocks the other way. Then the circus came around, and the lion was so fat and gassy that Mr. Nelson disposed of him to the menagerie department for $327.75.—Minneapolis Journal.

Fate of a Prince Albert.

When Commander Peary went on his first trip in search of the pole he won the gratitude of an Eskimo by presenting him with an ancient Prince Albert coat and extensively creased sombrero. Years afterward, when again in the north, the explorer received a ceremonial visit from the native, and to his surprise, set eyes once more on the "discarded vestments."

On the occasion of the commander's latest dash for the pole the aborigines, took him aside and pointed to a rude mosaic. By its side stood the disused sledge. Its six dogs had been strangled to make an appropriate funeral. On the pile of stones lay what was left of the Prince Albert coat and the sombrero.

Pacific Coast Nurserymen

Salem, Ore., July 10.—A large number of horticulturists and growers of baby trees were present today at the opening of the annual convention of the Pacific Coast Association of Nurserymen. The initial session was held this afternoon and was devoted chiefly to the exchange of greetings. The convention will be in session three days, during which time there will be papers and discussions dealing with every phase of the fruit growing industry in Washington, Oregon and California. In conjunction with the meeting there is being held an elaborate display of orchard products.

DEFINITE TALK OF INTERURBAN

JANESVILLE BUSINESSMEN ARE INVESTORS IN PROJECT.

NEW YORK MEN INTERESTED

Have Spent Many Weeks in Going Over the Situation with Investors.

"Within a year and a quarter an interurban road will be in operation between Janesville and Madison."

This welcome statement was made this afternoon by Mr. Daniel B. Ely of New York City. For several months past Mr. Ely has been working upon an interurban proposition and is nearly ready to make his plans public.

"Of course there can be nothing beyond the grading done this year, but on the opening of the spring of 1908 the actual work of track-laying will begin and I am confident that before next summer is over cars will be running from Janesville to Madison."

That work was being done quietly to finance a proposed road from this city to Madison was announced in the Gazette some weeks ago, but the statement of Mr. Ely is the first definite news of the undertaking.

For several weeks past Mr. Ely, and his associate, Mr. W. Brenton Welton, of New York, have been at work interesting local capitalists in the proposition. Thus far they have been very successful. Mr. Ely states that Janesville has taken the lead in the stock subscriptions, and business men along the entire proposed line are showing unusual interest in the proposition.

"The road will cost in the neighborhood of $300,000 to put in operation," says Mr. Ely. "Of this practically all is already promised. Within a few days I expect to be able to give definite information relative to the whole matter."

Such statements coming from gentlemen who have devoted several months to the work give a practical assurance that the road will be built.

The line will enter Madison over the tracks of the Madison city system. It is certain this last move for an interurban means business and after many years of waiting Janesville will have interurban connection with the city of Madison.

TO BE A RALLYING PLACE FOR MINERS

Janesville Will Be Scene of Many Annual Meetings According to "Forcite" Owners Meeting Here Today.

That Janesville is to be the meeting-place hereafter of a large proportion of the eighty or ninety mining companies operating in LaPorte, Iowa, and Grant counties, is the surprise made by F. McCabe of Chicago, who is here to attend the annual conference of the stockholders of the "Forcite," located near Cuba City, in which Fred Howe and other local men are interested. "We have always held our annual meetings in Chicago, but the new law compels us to transact such business as comes before us at these times within the boundaries of Wisconsin," said Mr. McCabe. "Janesville is central for Chicago, Milwaukee, Watertown, and Cuba City where most of our stockholders reside and I imagine that the same thing is true of the majority of the other mining concerns, many of which have been meeting in Chicago, just as we have."

About thirty or forty are expected for the session at the Grand hotel this afternoon and a delegation consisting of M. C. and L. H. Kusel and C. R. Blumenfeld of Watertown and H. G. Miller of Fox Lake, arrived this morning.

WAS CUPID JOKING OR IS THE TELEGRAM TRUE?

Gazette Receives Mysterious Dispatch from Chicago This Morning.

Chicago, Ill., July 10, 1907. Janesville Daily Gazette:

J. F. Dumagan and Miss Margaret Smith of Racine street eloped to Chicago this morning on the fourthirty.

CUPID.

The above dispatch can not be verified. Mr. Dumagan is not in the city and Miss Smith can not be located.

MORTUARY MENTION.

John Elliott, formerly of this city, passed away at Waterman, Ill., at two o'clock this morning. He had been ill of typhoid fever for two weeks just and on account of his critical condition his mother, Mrs. Mary Elliott, had been summoned to his bedside. The funeral will be held in Waterman tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock. Deceased was a young man but a little more than twenty years of age. Up to a year or so ago he worked in Janesville, being employed on the roundhouse force and in the operating department of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road. Of late he has been a telegrapher in the employ of an eastern road, terminating at Chicago. He is survived by a mother, two sisters, Mrs. Albert Bolz and Miss Agnes Elliott, and a brother, William Elliott.

Emanuel Arnold, one of the old settlers of Plymouth, died suddenly Monday night of heart trouble and dropsy combined. The funeral will be held Thursday morning from the home in Hanover at ten o'clock and later from the Methodist church in Plymouth.

William Funk, Funeral services over the remains of the late William Funk were held from the home, 113 Western avenue at two o'clock and from St. Peter's English Lutheran church at half-past two. Rev. W. P. Christy was the officiating clergyman and the pallbearers were John Funk, Adolph Funk, Henry Funk, Louis Funk, Charles Funk and Abner Seidmore. Interment was in Oak Hill cemetery.

TAILOR ARRESTED FOR GOING UNSHOD

Emery Alden's "Barefoot Boy" Stunt Staggered Officer Mason's Sense of Propriety.

No poetic yearning for Young April's freedom of the sod—just commonsense—Emery Alden, successful tailor, Fred Bolz, the Corn Exchange tailor, to divest himself of shoes and stockings shortly before sunset last evening and otherwise dressed in the height of fashion and wearing a rose in his buttonhole, to perambulate on Milwaukee street and other public thoroughfares. Officer Mason overhauled the man at the intersection of High street and led him to the police station where City Marshal William Appleby, asked for an explanation of the unusual proceeding. "Is there any law in the state of Wisconsin which prohibits a man from going barefoot when he chooses?" questioned Mr. Alden with some show of indignation. The city marshal was unable to point to the exact statute applying to this case but was convinced that such conduct was unseemly, against public policy and therefore reprehensible. He advised the tailor to go home and put his shoes and stockings on or keep off the streets, and released him on condition that he do as bidden.

LIVELY RUNAWAY FRIGHTENS MANY PEOPLE ON STREETS

Horse Belonging to Grant Taylor Breaks Away and Makes Long Dash for Freedom.

This morning shortly after nine, a horse and wagon, belonging to Grant Taylor, who lives on the edge of the city on the Milton road, made a dash for liberty up South Main street from some point below the park. At the intersection of Main and Milwaukee the horse ran onto the sidewalk in front of the T. J. Ziegler Clothing Company, where William Bowen was standing pinning him into a corner of the building, then jumped into the gutter, overturning the light wagon, down North Main street to North First street, up to Bluff and then onto Milwaukee, and when captured was at the corner by Gabriels' barns going for home as fast as possible.

SIX HUNDRED YARDS OF THE FRAGRANT SWEET PEA BLOOMS

John T. Fitchett Uses Nitroculture Successfully on His Plants.

Six hundred yards of sweet peas, the majority of them in bloom, are found in the garden of John T. Fitchett, 155 Milton avenue. Mr. Fitchett is most successful in his work with this dainty variety of flower and uses the nitro-culture, discovered by the government experts in making his garden grow. The shades of the fragrant blossoms are from pure white to the deepest purple and red.

FOURTH OF JULY BILLS.

All those having bills against the various Fourth of July committees should have the O. K. by the chairman of the proper committee and send to J. F. Wortendyk for payment at once.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

Subscribers intending to spend a week or more out of the city and wishing to have The Gazette sent to their address will receive the paper much more promptly by notifying this office of change of address on or before the Saturday previous to departure.

Newlands' Eloquence.

Senator Newlands of Nevada was soaring in debate one day, soaring so high he hit the ceiling. He realized he was getting a little flowery and, to excuse himself, said: "Indeed, Mr. President, perforce, oratory may be pardoned, for this subject furnishes all the food eloquence needs." That sounded pretty good to Newlands, but he was a bit abashed when he read in the Congressional Record next day that he asserted his topic "furnished all the food elephants need."—Chicago Chronicle.

A McCarthy Epigram.

Justin Hurty McCarthy can write epigrams when he chooses, as well as descriptions of love and of fighting; as, for example, this bit of succinct wisdom, which he puts into the mouth of Lewis the Eleventh-In-Needles and Pins: "Never explain; many a bad explanation spoils a good case."

The Meals of Long Ago.

"If you want striking illustration of the increase in the price of food stuffs in the last 10 or 15 years," said an old hotel man, "just get hold of an old table d'hôte menu and see the list of things that hotel guests used to get a quarter of a century ago for 75 cents. It would break up any hotel to offer the same bill of fare at the same price to-day."

Resting.

One of the fundamental principles of proper rest is that one shall not be disturbed during the resting time. The telephone bell should be plugged. One expecting to be called, or even called unexpectedly does not give up thoroughly. It must not be forgotten that rest, real, refreshing, youth-giving, health-restoring rest, is of the nerves as well as the body.

Government and Science.

There does not exist to-day a nation more hooligan in its attitude towards science than the British. With unequalled opportunities for advancing man's knowledge of nature and therefore combating the stealthy ravages which nature plots against him for his disregard of her conditions, the British government scarcely lifts a finger in any direction to help on the work of scientific research.—London Standard.

EVANSVILLE

Evansville, July 9.—William A. Patterson, an old and well known resident of this state, aged eighty-two years, passed quietly away at 5:30 o'clock Monday afternoon at the home of his son, Edwin Patterson, who resides on a farm just out of town. Dr. Ross was the immediate cause of death.

He had been in rather poor health since in March, but was able to be around until last Saturday night, when he retired and went to sleep as usual and all efforts to arouse him were ineffectual and he peacefully slept away the remaining hours of life. The deceased was born at Sharon, Vermont, and came west and settled in Milwaukee, when that city was only a fishing village. From there he went to Ashippun, Wis., where he took up government land, and resided there until a few years ago when he came to Evansville to reside with his son.

Patterson was for many years a faithful member of the M. E. church and a host of friends deeply mourn his demise. He is survived by two sons, Edwin Patterson of this place and Myron Patterson of Hardy, S. D. The funeral services will be held from the home at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. A. Eager and daughter Gertrude entertained thirty-five guests at dinner last evening with Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Pullen of Des Moines, Ia., as guests of honor. TORNADO AT LOUISVILLE

THREE PERSONS KILLED AND GREAT DAMAGE DONE.

Buildings Wrecked and Shade Trees Prostrated by Wind—Indiana Towns Also Suffer.

Louisville, Ky., July 10.—A terrific wind storm which burst upon the city shortly before five o'clock Tuesday afternoon brought death to one man and two boys and injury to several other persons.

Many horses and mules were killed, buildings unroofed, smaller structures blown down and unprecedented damage done to shade trees all over the city. The records of the weather bureau show that the maximum velocity of the wind was 68 miles an hour during the height of the storm and the wind blew at the rate of 60 miles for 15 minutes. Several streets are impassable for blocks owing to the trees which litter the roadways. Street car service was suspended for several hours.

Both telephone companies report a serious interruption to their service.

No advices have been received from the surrounding country owing to the prostration of wires. Jeffersonville, Ind., across the river, escaped the full force of the blow, but the damage to property in New Albany is estimated at $50,000, the heaviest loss being sustained by the Ohio Falls Iron company. Three churches and one schoolhouse were unroofed in New Albany.

PLANS PARADE OF ELKS.

Grand Esquire Sullivan Expects 30,000 in Line at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, July 10.—John P. Sullivan, of New Orleans, grand esquire of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, arrived here Tuesday to complete arrangements for the grand parade of the order which will be held here next week in connection with the forty-third grand lodge session and the twenty-first annual reunion of the order.

He said the decorations were the most elaborate and the preparations the best he had ever seen in connection with any similar event. He estimated that there would be 30,000 Elks in the parade, which will take place on Thursday, July 18.

THE KING OF BLOOD PURIFIERS

For more than forty years S. S. S. has worn the crown of public approval and has been recognized as the King of Blood Purifiers. It has demonstrated its ability to CURE in thousands upon thousands of cases of blood and skin diseases until it is regarded today as the most reliable and safest of all blood medicines.

Pure blood means strong, vigorous bodies, well nourished systems, steady nerves, and all the machinery of life working in harmony with nature—thus insuring perfect health. Impure or diseased blood means the opposite of all this; any impurity, humor or poison in this vital fluid acts injuriously on the system and affects the general health. Pustular eruptions, pimples, rashes and the various skin affections show that the blood is in a feverish and diseased condition, as the result of too much acid or the presence of some irritating humor. Chronic Sores and Ulcers are the result of morbid, unhealthy matter in the blood, while Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison, etc., are all deep-seated blood disorders that continue to grow worse as long as the poisons which produce them remain in the blood.

All blood troubles are not acquired. Through the blood disease germs are transmitted from one generation to another. Parents hand down a tainted circulation to their children, and we see its effects manifested in various ways. The skin has a waxy, pallid appearance, the eyes are often weak, glands of the neck enlarged, and, as the taint has been in the blood since birth, the entire health is usually affected, and the system weakened from want of nourishing, health-giving blood.

In all blood troubles S. S. S. has proven itself "The King of Blood Purifiers." It goes down into the circulation and removes all poisons, humors, waste or foreign matter, and makes this life-stream pure and health-sustaining. Nothing reaches inherited blood troubles like S. S. S.; it removes every particle of the taint, purifies and strengthens the weak, deteriorated blood, supplies it with the healthful properties it needs and establishes the foundation for good health. As a tonic S. S. S. has no equal, and it will be found especially bracing to weak, anemic persons.

One of the greatest points in favor of S. S. S. is that it is purely vegetable, made from nature's healing, cleansing, health-producing roots, herbs and barks. It is the one medicine that may be taken with absolute safety by the youngest child or the oldest member of the family. Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison, and all other blood troubles are cured permanently by S. S. S., and so thorough is the cleansing of the blood that no trace of the disease is left to break out in future years, or to be transmitted to offspring. If your blood is out of order begin the use of S. S. S., The King of Blood Purifiers, and restore this vital fluid to its normal healthy condition, and enjoy the blessing of good health. Book on the blood and any special medical advice desired will be furnished free of charge to all who write.

Shocking Fog Away. Fog dissipation by electric discharges has proven more effective when the fog contains dust or smoke than when it is water only, the solid particles seeming to become charged and to be then repelled, precipitating particles of vapor with which they collide. With a bundle of spikes as radiator, a space of some yards can be cleared in a few seconds.

Camphor to Whiten Skin. A little camphor applied to a wet cloth will whiten the skin, but it should be used sparingly, with a cream afterward. A few drops put into lukewarm water and applied with a sponge after one has come in from an outdoor trip is extremely refreshing.

When Doctors Dine Together

Is it coffee? Is it tea? No! Seldom indeed do they use these evil drugs. They know that they destroy digestion—weaken the nerves—encourage insomnia. The vast majority of physicians prefer pure malt and hop beer at meals, such as

Gund's Peerless Beer

This superb beer has been brewed for over half a century from the best malting barley and imported Bohemian Hops by the celebrated "Gund Natural Process." Physicians knowing its commanding superiority over all other American beers not only approve of it for their own table, but heartily recommend it to poorly nourished and convalescing patients. The testimony of the World's greatest physicians prove that beer is undoubtedly healthy—for example we print the following:

Dr. Willis P. King, of Kansas City, formerly President of the Missouri State Medical Society, speaks of beer as follows:

"Beer to persons of moderate health, where used in moderate quantities, does not only increase weight and strength of body, but has the influence of aiding the digestive apparatus to digest other things taken as food. For nearly 40 years I have prescribed our best beers, ordering three to four glasses a day, in a great variety of ailments and the RESULTS have been wonderfully beneficial."

A Story of American Life Novelized From the Play by ARTHUR HORNBLLOW.

CHAPTER II.

A fifty-six John Buckett Ryder was surprisingly well preserved. With the exception of the slight stoop already noted and the rapidly thinning snow white hair, his step was as light and elastic and his brain as vigorous and alert as in a man of forty. Of old English stock, his physical makeup presented all those strongly marked characteristics of our race which sprung from Anglo-Saxon ancestry, but modified by nearly 300 years of different climate and customs has gradually produced the distinct and true American type, as easily recognizable among the family of nations as any other of the earth's children.

Tall and distinguished looking, Ryder would have attracted attention anywhere. Men who have accomplished much in life usually bear plainly upon their persons the indelible stamp of achievement, whether of good or evil, which renders them conspicuous among their fellows. We turn after a man in the street and ask, "Who is he?" And nine times out of ten the object of our curiosity is a man who has made his mark—a successful soldier, a famous sailor, a celebrated author, a distinguished lawyer, or even a notorious crook.

There was certainly nothing in John Ryder's outward appearance to justify Lombroso's sensational description of him: "A social and physiological freak, a degenerate and a prodigy of turpitude who, in the pursuit of money, crushes with the insensibility of a steel machine every one who stands in his way." On the contrary, Ryder, outwardly at least, was a prepossessing looking man. His head was well shaped, and he had an intellectual brow, while power was expressed in every gesture of his hands and body. Every inch of him suggested strength and resourcefulness. His face, which in good humor, frequently expanded in a pleasant smile, and he had even been known to laugh boisterously, usually at his own stories, which he rightly considered very droll, and of which he possessed a goodly stock. But in repose his face grew stern and forbidding, and when his prognathous jaw, indicative of will power and bulldog tenacity, snapped to with a click, like sound, those who heard it knew that signals were coming.

But it was John Ryder's eyes that were regarded as the most reliable barometer of his mental condition. Wonderful eyes they were, strangely eloquent and expressive, and their most singular feature was that they possessed the uncanny power of changing color like a cat's. When their owner was at peace with the world, and had temporarily shaken off the cares of business, his eyes were of the most restful, beautiful blue, like the sky after sunrise on a spring morning, and looking into their serene depths it seemed absurd to think that this man could ever harm a fly. His face, while under the spell of this kindly mood, was so benevolent and gentle, so frank and honest that you felt there was nothing in the world—pursue, honor, wife, child—that it needs be, you would not intrude to his keeping.

When the period of truce was ended, when the placid was once more absorbed in controlling the political as well as the commercial machinery of the nation, then his eyes took on a snaky, greenish hue, and one could plainly read in them the cunning, the avariciousness, the meanness, the insatiable thirst for gain that had made this man the most unscrupulous money getter of his time, but his eyes had still another color, and when this last transformation took place those dependent upon him and even his friends quaked with fear, for they were his eyes of anger. On these dreaded occasions his eyes grew black as darkest night and flashed fire as lightning rends the thundercloud. Almost ungovernable fury was hidden the weakest spot in John Ryder's armor, for in these moments of appalling wrath he was reckless of what he said or did, friendship, self interest, prudence, all were sacrificed.

Such was the Colossus on whom all eyes were turned as he entered. Instantly the conversation stopped as by magic. The directors nudged each other and whispered. Instinctively Ryder singled out his enemy, Senator Roberts, who advanced with effusive gesture.

"Hello, senator!"

"You're punctual, as usual, Mr. Ryder. I never knew you to be late."

Ryder passed on and into the directors' room, followed by Senator Roberts and the other directors, the procession being brought up by the dapper little secretary bearing the minutes.

With a nod here and there Ryder took his place in the chairman's seat and rapped for order. Then at a sign from the chief of the dapper little secretary began in a monotonous voice to read the minutes of the previous meeting.

Quickly they were approved, and the chairman proceeded as rapidly as possible with the regular business routine. That disposed of, the meeting was ready for the chief business of the day. Ryder then calmly proceeded to present the facts in the case.

condition of the same. "It afterward, owing to the rise in the value of real estate, the road found it impossible to carry out the original idea, surely they were masters of their own property." The people of Auburndale thought differently and, galled on by the local newspapers, had begun action in the courts to restrain the road from diverting the land from its alleged original purpose. They had succeeded in getting the injunction, but the road had fought it tooth and nail and finally carried it to the supreme court, where Judge Rossmore after reserving his opinion had finally sustained the injunction and decided against the railroad. That was the situation.

Several directors spoke, the arguments of each one being merely a reiteration of those already heard. Ryder did not listen to what was being said. Why should he? Was he not familiar with every possible phase of the game? Better than these men who merely talked, he was planning how the railroad and all his other interests could get rid of the troublesome judge, Rossmore.

He who controlled legislatures and dictated to supreme court judges had found himself powerless when each turn of the legal machinery had brought him face to face with Judge Rossmore. Suit after suit had been decided against him and the interests he represented, and each time it was Judge Rossmore who had headed down the decision. So for years these two men had fought a silent but bitter duel in which principle on the one side and attempted corruption on the other were the game of battle. Judge Rossmore fought with the weapons which his oath and the law directed him to use. Ryder with the only weapons he understood—bribery and trickery. And each time it had been Rossmore who had emerged triumphant. Despite every maneuver Ryder's experience could suggest, notwithstanding every curl that could be played to undermine his credit and reputation, Judge Rossmore stood higher in the country's confidence than when he was first appointed.

So when Ryder found he could not corrupt this honest judge with gold he decided to destroy him with calumny. No scruples embarrassed Ryder in arriving at this determination. From his point of view he was fully justified. "Business is business. He hurls my interests; therefore I remove him." So he argued, and he considered it no more wrong to wreck the happiness of this honorable man than he would to have shot a burglar in self defense. So having thus tranquillized his conscience he had gone to work in his usually thorough manner, and his success had surpassed the most sanguine expectations.

This is what he had done. Like many of our public servants whose labors are compensated only in gilded fashion by an inconsiderate country, Judge Rossmore was a man of but moderate means. His income as justice of the supreme court was $12,000 a year, but for a man in his position, having a certain appearance to keep up, it little more than kept the wolf from the door. He lived quietly, but comfortably, in New York with his wife and his daughter Shirley, an attractive young woman who had graduated from Vassar and had shown a marked taste for literature. The daughter's education had cost a good deal of money, and this, together with life insurance and other incidentals of keeping house in New York, had about taken all he had. Yet he had managed to save a little, and those years when he could put by a fifth of his salary the judge considered himself lucky. So secretly he was proud of his comparative poverty. At least the world could never ask him "where he got it."

Ryder was well acquainted with Judge Rossmore's private means. The two men had met at a dinner, and, although Ryder had tried to cultivate the acquaintance, he never received much encouragement. Ryder's son Jefferson, too, had met Miss Shirley Rossmore and been much attracted to her, but the father having more ambitious plans for his heir quickly discouraged all attentions in that direction. He himself, however, continued to meet the judge casually, and one evening he contrived to broach the subject of profitable investments. The judge admitted that by careful hoarding and much stinting he had managed to save a few thousand dollars which he was anxious to invest in something good.

Quick as the keen eyed vulture swoops down on its prey the wily financier seized the opportunity thus presented. And he took so much trouble in answering the judge's inexperienced questions and generally made himself so agreeable that the judge found himself regretting that he and Ryder had by force of circumstances been opposed to each other in public life so long. Ryder strongly recommended the purchase of Alaskan Mining stock, a new and booming enterprise which had lately become very active in the market. Ryder said he had reasons to believe that the stock would soon advance, and now there was an opportunity to get it cheap.

A few days after he had made the investment the judge was surprised to receive certificates of stock for double the amount he had paid for. At the same time he received a letter from the secretary of the company explaining that the additional stock was pool stock and not to be marketed at the present time. "It was in the nature of a bonus to which he was entitled as one of the early shareholders. The letter was full of verbiage and technical details of which the judge understood nothing, but he thought it very liberal of the company and, putting the stock away in his safe, soon forgot all about it. Had he been a business man he would have scented peril. He would have realized that he had now in his possession $50,000 worth of stock for which he had not paid a cent and furthermore had deposited it when a reorganization came.

But the judge was sincerely grateful for Ryder's apparently disinterested advice and wrote two letters to him, one in which he thanked him for the trouble he had taken and another in which he asked him if he was sure the company was financially sound, as the investment he contemplated making represented all his savings. He added in the second letter that he had received stock for double the amount of his investment and that, being a perfect child in business transactions, he had been unable to account for the extra $50,000 worth until the secretary of the company had written him assuring him that everything was in order. These letters Ryder kept.

From that time on the Alaskan Mining company underwent mysterious changes. New capitalists gained control and the name was altered to the Great Northwestern Mining company. Then it became involved in litigation, and one suit, the outcome of which meant millions to the company, was carried to the supreme court, where Judge Rossmore was sitting. The judge had by this time forgotten all about the company in which he owned stock. He did not even recall its name. He only knew vaguely that it was a mine and that it was situated in Alaska. Could he dream that the Great Northwestern Mining company and the company to which he had entrusted his few thousands were one and the same? In deciding on the merits of the case presented to him right seemed to him to be plainly with the Northwestern, and he rendered a decision to that effect. It was an important decision, involving a large sum, and for a day or two it was talked about. But as it was the opinion of the most learned and honest judge on the bench no one dreamed of questioning it.

But very soon ugly paragraphs began to appear in the newspapers. One paper asked if it were true that Judge Rossmore owned stock in the Great Northwestern Mining company which had recently benefited so signally by his decision. Interviewed by a reporter, Judge Rossmore indignantly denied being interested in any way in the company. Thereupon the same paper returned to the attack, stating that the judge must surely be mistaken, as the records showed a sale of stock to him at the time the company was known as the Alaskan Mining company. When he read this the judge was overwhelmed. It was true then! They had not slandered him. It was he who had lied, but how innocently—how innocently!

His daughter Shirley, who was his greatest friend and comfort, was then in Europe. She had gone to the continent to rest after working for months on a novel which she had just published. His wife, entirely without experience in business matters and somewhat of an invalid, was helpless to advise him. But to his old and tried friend, ex-Judge Stott, Judge Rossmore explained the facts as they were. Stott shook his head. "It's a conspiracy," he cried. "And John B. Ryder is behind it." Rossmore refused to believe that any man could so deliberately try to encompass another's destruction, but when more newspaper stories came out he began to realize that Stott was right and that his enemies had indeed dealt him a deadly blow. One newspaper boldly stated that Judge Rossmore was down on the rising company's books for $50,000 more stock than he had paid for, and it went on to ask if this was payment for the favorable decision just rendered. Rossmore, helpless, childlike as he was in business matters, now fully realized the seriousness of his position. "My God! My God!" he cried as he bowed his head down on his desk. "And for a whole day he remained closeted in his library, no one venturing near him."

As John Ryder sat there sphinxlike at the head of the directors' table he reviewed all this in his mind. His own part in the work was now done, and well done, and he had come to this meeting today to tell them of his triumph. Cries of "The chair! The chair!" arose on every side. Senator Roberts leaned over to Ryder and whispered something in his ear. With an acquiescent gesture John Ryder tapped the table with his gavel and rose to address his fellow directors. Instantly the room was silent again as the bomb. One might have heard a pin drop, so intense was the attention. All eyes were fixed on the chairman. The air itself seemed charged with electricity that needed but a spark to set it ablaze. Speaking deliberately and dispassionately, the master dissembler began.

"They had all listened carefully, he said, to what had been stated by previous speakers. The situation no doubt was very critical, but they had weathered worse storms, and he had every reason to hope they would outlive this storm. It was true that public opinion was greatly incensed against the railroad and, indeed, against all organized capital and was seeking to injure them through the courts. For a time this agitation would hurt business and lessen the dividends, for it meant not only smaller annual earnings, but that a lot of money must be spent in Washington.

The eyes of the listeners, who were hanging on every word, involuntarily turned in the direction of Senator Roberts, but the latter, at that moment busily engaged in rummaging among a lot of papers, seemed to have missed this significant allusion to the road's expenses in the District of Columbia. Ryder continued.

NEITHER NATION WISHES WAR NOW

SO SAYS CONGRESSMAN HULL OF JAPAN AND AMERICA.

TOKIO PLANNING COUP?

Story That Secret Agents Have Sent Startling Information About Undue Activity in Island Kingdom.

Des Moines, Ia., July 10.—"Neither Japan nor the United States want a war at this time," said Congressman J. A. T. Hull, chairman of the house committee on military affairs, Tuesday. "There is a big element in Japan which would welcome war, but the ruling classes are too wise to pick a quarrel with the United States. If there is war we will at first lose the Philippines and the Hawaiian islands, but we would triumph in the end, for the United States would build warships and fight out a victory. We are the only nation which can conduct a war and get rich at the same time."

Japan Unduly Active. Washington, July 10.—A new and startling explanation of the reason for sending the great Atlantic battleship fleet to the Pacific ocean has trickled out from high official circles. According to this story the order for the transfer of the fleet was issued because of surprising information received by this government from secret agents in Japan.

This information, according to the report, is that Japan is unduly active in certain directions.

From the trend of recent events it is believed that, despite all smooth and polite assurances of Tokyo officials to the contrary, the mikado's government is planning a coup.

Says Cruise Is for "Practice." Oakland, Cal., July 10.—Secretary of the Navy Metcalf deprecates the warlike aspect that has been given the order for the cruise of the great battleship squadron from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast.

The secretary said to-day that the proposed movement was that of a practice cruise, and that the fleet would not be kept in the Pacific permanently. He declared that the length of time that the fleet would remain on the western side of the continent had not yet been decided. With considerable emphasis the secretary voiced his opinion that the warlike interpretation that had been made in connection with the fleet's movement was not justified by the facts. In fact, the widely published reports suggesting hostile preparations seem to be a source of irritation for the head of the navy.

Protest from "Peace Union." Philadelphia, July 10.—The executive committee of the Universal Peace union at a meeting here Tuesday placed itself on record as opposed to sending a fleet of warships to the Pacific ocean. The committee adopted the following resolutions:

"In view of the feeling existing in the international relations between Japan and the government of the United States, we regard the proposition, as reported, of sending a fleet of battleships to the Pacific border as unwelcome, inopportune and irritating, especially as the second peace conference is now in session at The Hague, where are assembled over 250 delegates representing 45 governments with a large and eminently able delegation from the United States and with representatives from Japan.

"Believing that such an action is calculated to impair, if not to destroy, the anticipated results of said conference and lead more to war than to peace, we appeal to President Roosevelt to withhold any such demonstration."

PUNCH DINES MARK TWAIN.

Staff of British Funny Paper Entertains the Humorist.

London, July 10.—The staff of Punch entertained Samuel L. Clemens at dinner Tuesday night. The guests sat down at the famous dining room table which is carved all over with the initials of generations of the most famous of British writers. Mr. Clemens was the guest at luncheon at the house of commons in the afternoon of Sir Ben. Stone, member of the house for East Birmingham. Among those present were A. J. Balfour and Baron Komura, Japanese ambassador to Great Britain. "Mr. Clemens will leave here Wednesday for Liverpool, where he will be the guest of the lord mayor."

Senator Bacon Is Re-elected. Atlanta, Ga., July 10.—United States Senator A. O. Bacon was re-elected Tuesday for the full term beginning March 4, 1907. His election was taken up in each branch of the legislature and was carried by a unanimous vote in each body. The legislature will meet in joint session Wednesday morning to confirm the action.

Easily Adjusted. Chairman Knapp of the interstate commerce commission, told in New York the other day a French railway story. "A traffic manager," he said, "came to the president of the line and exclaimed disconsolately: 'We are having no end of trouble with the public, sir, about those old dark blue cars. Everybody says they bump so frightfully in comparison with the new light blue ones, which, of course, run very smooth.' 'Humph,' said the president; 'we must attend to this matter at once. Have all the old cars painted light blue immediately.'"

TALK OF PEACE IS ENDED

TELEGRAPHERS' STRIKE LIKELY TO BE EXTENDED AT ONCE.

Conference with Oakland Operators Being Refused, President Small Prepares to Start East.

Oakland, Cal., July 10.—Following refusal of Assistant General Superintendent Miller, Jr., of the Western Union Telegraph company, Tuesday, to meet a committee of the striking operators, President Small, of the Telegraphers' union, will leave Wednesday for the east. It is believed he will order strikes in Chicago and other cities.

Mr. Miller refused to let the committee enter his office, but sent them a note stating that he would meet them as individuals if they sought reinstatement, but would meet no union man as such.

President Small, much disappointed at the failure of a peace conference, issued the following statement:

"I feel absolved from further responsibility, inasmuch as I have made every effort, before and after the strike occurred, to bring about a conference. In the future we will have to pay less attention to the feelings of the opposition and public opinion and carry on our fight with more determination and with the one object in view of crippling the enemy until they are willing to meet us in a peace conference. Future moves will be forcible and decisive."

Tuesday evening Mr. Small sent a telegram to President Roosevelt asserting that every honorable means had been exhausted to secure an adjustment and that he had no hope of a settlement without an extensive strike.

SCHMITZ TO STAY IN JAIL.

His Release on Bail Is Refused by Judge Dunne.

San Francisco, July 10.—Judge Dunne Tuesday refused to admit Mayor Schmitz to bail, and denied him the privilege of visiting his attorneys. Schmitz appeared in court to ask for bail and to answer the indictments charging him with accepting bribes from the gas company and the United railroads. In the first he failed. The second was a formality and was carried through without incident.

It was decided Tuesday night by District Attorney Langdon and his associates to invite the commercial and labor bodies of the city to send delegates to a convention which is to be called in a few days for the purpose of choosing a mayor who will fill out the unexpired term of Mayor Schmitz.

Two Die of Heat in St. Louis.

St. Louis, July 10.—Two deaths and ten prostrations were reported Tuesday night as a result of the heat, the thermometer registering 93 degrees during the day. Mrs. Perry W. Martin, of Olney, Ill., was overcome at Union station and died in an ambulance. Maurice Krite, a hardware dealer, died at his home. One of those prostrated is H. J. Hamlin, formerly attorney general of Illinois, who was stricken at the Planters hotel. His condition is not serious.

Killed by a Live Wire.

Council Bluffs, Ia., July 10.—Richard D. Gahner, an electrician employed by the Citizens' Gas & Electric company, was electrocuted by coming in contact with an electric light wire Tuesday afternoon. His home is said to be in Long Beach, Cal.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR IN GREAT PARADE

BIG EVENT OF THE TRIENNIAL CONCLAVE AT SARATOGA.

EARL OF EUSTON THERE

Gov. Hughes Reviews the 15,000 Marchers and Formally Welcomes Grand Encampment—Many Receptions Held.

Saratoga, N. Y., July 10.—With 50,000 spectators lining the streets along avenues brilliantly decorated, 15,000 Knights Templar paraded here Tuesday. It was the greatest event of the triennial convolve of the grand encampment Knights Templar, which is being held here this week.

On the official reviewing stand with the earl of Euston, of London, England, were Grand Master George M. Moulton of Chicago and John B. Tressider, grand master of the priory of Canada, and Gov. Charles E. Hughes.

March for Three Hours.

For three hours the knights were in procession before the reviewing stands. Two hundred carriages conveyed the members of the grand commanderies of 42 states and territories. Three hundred horses were used by the aides. Fifty-seven bands, comprising 1,500 musicians, played unceasingly during the parade.

To care for any who might fall out of line during the parade many ambulances and dozens of automobiles with first aid to the injured corps accompanied the marchers. The services of the hospital corps were required in but four cases, a record for a triennial convolve. None of the accidents was serious.

After the parade the first session of the grand encampment was held in the town hall, at which Gov. Hughes formally welcomed the Sir Knights to New York state. In his address, the governor briefly spoke of his pleasure at taking a vacation from his duties in Albany, but discussed no political questions. The first regular session of the encampment will be held Wednesday.

Many Receptions Held.

After the meeting, Gov. Hughes for two hours received the Sir Knights and visitors at the encampment in the Grand Union hotel. As he marched to the reception hall the crowds gave him an ovation, shouting: "Our next president!" At night many receptions were held at various commandery headquarters in a dozen or more hotels. At the Windsor the wives of the New York state grand encampment officers tendered a reception to the officers of the grand encampment and the earl of Euston.

Wednesday the drill teams of five commanderies will meet in contest for the prize banner of the encampment and trophies. The contestants will be of the following commanderies: Rapier, Indianapolis; Englewood, Chicago; St. Bernard, Chicago; Ivanhoe, Milwaukee, and Columbia, Washington; D. C. The prizes will be awarded Wednesday night in convention hall by 124 sponsors, consisting of two young women selected by each commandery in New York state.

Fight on Cooperative Elevators.

Des Moines, Ia., July 10.—The Iowa Grain Dealers' association in convention Tuesday gave notice of war to a finish on farmers' cooperative elevator concerns throughout Iowa. It is probable that the first step to be taken against cooperatives is to secure their prosecution for alleged violations of the new Stillman law, an Iowa statute which prohibits combinations and working agreements among elevator men for the control of prices and other features of the grain business.

Panama Canal Hotel Burns.

Panama, July 10.—The hotel belonging to the isthmian canal commission at Empire, on the line of the canal, was destroyed by fire Monday night. No lives were lost.

Few Insane Indians.

The proportion of insanity among the North American Indians is the smallest among the world's races—25 per 100,000.

No International Athletics—Nelson-Britt Bout—Golfers Ball.

THE BATTLER IS CONFIDENT.

Latest Report From Yale Indicates That American and English Collegians Won't Meet This Year—Ball is a Six Time Champion.

It is officially announced at Yale that a letter received a few days ago from Oxford university stated that the challenge of the American universities, Yale and Harvard, for dual games would not be accepted.

The letter says that the athletes in both English universities are very keen on the idea of international sports and are much disappointed that there is a failure to have a meeting this year, but they hope that next spring before the Olympic games in London the men of the four universities may meet and later also meet in the London games.

Battling Nelson must have recovered all his old nerve, for he threatens not only to knock out Jimmy Britt when he meets him in California in July, but as soon as that fuss is over he predicts that he will regain the title from Joe Gans.

If fighters could win their battles with cold type there would be nothing but champions in the pugilistic world. Unfortunately for them, however, it is necessary to face an opponent in the ring and whip him before any medals are handed out. This, however, was made easy by Jack O'Brien's methods, the most difficult feature of all his "victories" being to find a man who would stand for his work.

Nelson recently left Chicago for San Francisco to go into training for his fight with Britt. The Battler is in good condition, though he scales at 145 pounds.

"I'm a little top heavy," he said, "but I will not have any trouble in getting down to the required weight. You know I never had any difficulty in weighing in at 133 pounds, the weight at which I am to fight Britt. They tell me that Jimmy is stronger and cleverer than ever. I hope that is true, for he will need all his strength and cleverness when I get him into the ring again."

John Ball is probably the world's best amateur golfer. His recent victory for the sixth time in the contest for the amateur title of Great Britain, held at St. Andrews, Scotland, was a climax unprecedented and highly sensational. Ball won his first amateur title in 1888. He has a remarkably easy and natural style of play.

Captain Robert C. Folwell of the University of Pennsylvania football team, in an interview dealing with the football prospects and situation at Pennsylvania, has admitted that the Quakers and Yale are trying to get together in a game next fall upon one of the open dates of the season.

There is little doubt that Pennsylvania is anxious for this contest and that Yale men in Philadelphia almost to a man would like to see it played.

It was announced at Cleveland recently that Walter Cox, a well known horseman, had paid $15,000 for the pacer Jerry B. 2:12 1/4, by Argot Wilkes. Jerry B. was owned by the Woody Hill stock farm of Salem, N. Y. He won ten straight races on half mile tracks last season. He is now entered in most of the big pacing stakes of the season.

Hold Fast to "Bunk."

The Boston Americans have refused to waive claim to outfielder "Bunk" Congalton of the Cleveland. The latter club wants to farm him to Columbus.

Walter Brodie.

The Newark (N. J.) club of the Eastern league has waived its claim to outfielder Walter Brodie, and he will play with Trenton, N. J.

MAY SUTTON'S VENTURE.

American Tennis Notable Practicing in England For Championship Events.

Miss May G. Sutton of Pasadena, Cal., America's greatest woman tennis player, is now practicing on English courts to get into shape for the championship matches that will be held in Great Britain this summer.

Miss Sutton's greatest hope is that she may meet Mrs. R. L. Chambers, formerly Miss D. K. Douglas, who defeated her last year, but this hope may not be realized, as the premier Englishwoman racket wielder has played in no big matches this season. It is not thought, however, that Mrs. Chambers has given up championship play for good, for she is too good a player to retire at present.

Miss Sutton is sure of securing some hard matches in her try for the English title again should Mrs. Chambers default, for Mrs. Sterry, Miss Eastlake Smith and Miss Coles, all of whom are players of much ability, will doubtless be ready to engage her on the grass courts.

The all England championships will be started at Wimbledon on June 24, and on July 10 the Welsh championships at Newport will open. After these the California girl will appear in garden party matches, returning to America either late in August or early in September. Miss Sutton looks forward to no easy victories, for the various championship meets attract the best players in England, and, having met many of the women during her previous visits, she knows their ability with the racket. She has one victory to her credit in her two meetings with Mrs. Chambers. This winning was scored in 1905, but it was said by the Englishwoman's supporters that Miss Sutton would not have won if Mrs. Chambers, then Miss Douglas, had not recently sprained her wrist, with a consequent temporary reversal of form. Last year Mrs. Chambers defeated Miss Sutton decisively, and it is mainly to disprove the idea that her first victory was due to her opponent's weakness that Miss Sutton hopes for a third meeting.

It was by her victory over Miss Douglas that Miss Sutton won the international women's championship. Previous to her trip to England in 1905 she had won the Pacific coast championship, and her few appearances in the east just before sailing demonstrated her right as a contender for what is practically the world's title for women tennis players.

That she was well fitted for the task of downing the English players was shown by her preliminary rounds, for she won every game, and in the tournament proper she came through with flying colors, not losing a set. As a matter of fact, Miss Douglas, who was defending the title, gave Miss Sutton less trouble than some of her earlier opponents, but this again brings up the incident of the former's sprained wrist.

Last year Miss Sutton's trip was not as successful as her first venture abroad. Miss Douglas defeated her twice, once at Albury, on June 8, by 7-5 and 6-2, in the contest for the northern title, and again at Wimbledon, in the all England championship match,

THEIR CAREERS IN DETAIL.

Mullin Has Been Offered Big Bonus if He Succeeds in Winning Thirty Games or More This Season—Brown a "Horse Doctor."

George J. Mullin, the star Detroit American pitcher, to whom a substantial bonus was promised if he won thirty games this season for the Detroit Tigers, will have a hard time getting the reward if past performances in the American league be taken as a criterion. Since the Johnson organization shook its swaddling clothes and took its place alongside the National in playing strength in just two seasons have twirlers annexed thirty or more games in a campaign. Once the number got above forty, Jack Chesbro, going at his fastest clip in 1904, winning one more than this number. In 1901 Cy Young, twirled thirty-one successful engagements, and the following season the ball splitter won brackets thirty-two times.
